Dulles Claims Yalta Release Not Harmful

Secretary Says That Essential Facts Had Been Published Before

OTTAWA, March 18 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today he sees nothing in American publication of the Yalta papers which will harm diplomatic relations among the free nations. He said the essentials had all been published before.

Dulles is in Canada on a three-day state visit which will end tomorrow.

Dulles said the documents were released in the normal course of proceedings in the State Department.

He said books by Prime Minister Churchill, and former U. S. Secretaries James Byrnes and Edward R. Stettinius had made known all the essential facts on the Yalta meeting of President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Stalin and Churchill.

Churchill Only Survivor

Churchill, the only survivor among the Yalta principals, told the House of Commons in London yesterday Britain disapproved of the American publication. He said there were "serious mistakes" in the U. S. account.

But Dulles said it is his belief the American action, amounting to a fourth publication, will not do any more harm than the preceding three.

He said he knew of no intention by the United States to denounce the Yalta treaty.

Dulles touched on various other subjects. His comment:

Far Eastern Policy — He would not be pinned down on whether the United States will fight for the islands of Quemoy and Matsu. This is a decision which will be made at the proper time by President Eisenhower. The United States recognizes the right of the Communists to claim Formosa, but not to take the Nationalist stronghold by force.

Hails German Ratification

As to recognition of Red China, the United States withholds such action because the Peiping regime refuses to abide by accepted standards of international relations. Perhaps the United States was wrong in recognizing Russia in 1932, but the act of recognition does not carry with it a measure of approval.

Germany — He hailed the West German Parliament's final ratification of the Paris treaties as another important step in accomplishing what he believes is the greatest single goal of the free nations since World War II. This goal is cooperation of the French and Germans for peace.

Negotiations With Russia — The United States remains prepared to negotiate with the Communists whenever there is a reasonable prospect for success. Thus far Big Four conferences have served mainly as Soviet propaganda forums.

Bonn Passes Paris Treaty By 29-9 Vote

Nine Nations Have Okayed Rearmament Program For Germans

BONN, Germany, March 18 (AP)—West Germany's Bundesrat approved today the Paris treaties to arm 500,000 Germans on the side of the West. The vote was 29-9. It completed the parliamentary action required in Bonn.

Also accepted was an agreement with France to Europeanize the coal-rich Saar Valley. All the treaties now go to President Theodor Heuss for his signature. The Bundestag approved them Feb. 27.

West German ratification leaves the fate of the rearment treaties largely up to France. The parliaments of nine nations have now given the treaties approval. The six which have yet to complete parliamentary action on the Paris treaties are Belgium, Denmark, France, Luxembourg, the Netherlands and the United States.

Issue Is In Doubt

The French Senate, where the issue is in doubt, will start debating the treaties next Wednesday, with a vote slated Friday. French officials today hailed German approval as "another step toward the defense organization of Europe."

A new challenge to the treaties developed today when the opposition Socialists announced they are filing a suit in the Constitutional Court against the Saar pact. They charge it violates the constitution. The 38-member Bundesrat took just 68 minutes to pass the treaties. There was no debate. After the vote, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer proudly declared:

"This does away with Yalta." His government said in a statement:

"The significance of the Paris treaties for German postwar policy is particularly emphasized by the publication of the Yalta agreement. The ratification of these treaties signifies the obliteration of Yalta."

Would Assume Burden

They referred to the Yalta Big Three proposals to carve up Germany into separate states and to reduce its heavy industry and living standards after World War II. Now, 10 years after Yalta, West Germany under the Paris treaties would receive national sovereignty, the right to create a defense force of half-million men designed for atomic war, and join the North Atlantic Alliance and a seven-nation West European military union.

Chapin Guilty In Dual Murder

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., March 18 (AP)—Gangling high school sophomore Kenneth Chapin, 19, was convicted of murder in the first degree tonight in the knife slaying of a 14-year-old baby sitter and her charge.

The Hampden County Superior Court jury made no recommendation for leniency and Judge Charles Fairhurst immediately sentenced Chapin to death in the electric chair.

The tall defendant stood alert while the jury announced its verdict. He stared straight ahead while the judge imposed the sentence that may make him one of the youngest convicts to die in the Massachusetts electric chair.

Judge Fairhurst deferred execution of the sentence indefinitely to allow defense counsel time to file appeals. Chapin's attorneys said they "don't know what our next step will be."

The all-male jury deliberated just short of four hours before convicting Chapin of the fatal stabbing of baby sitter Lynn Ann Smith, who lived on his Springfield street, and Stephen Goldberg, 4, in the Goldberg home last Sept. 25.

Shortly before the jury was given the case, Mrs. Eleanor Smith, mother of the slain girl, gave birth to a premature child at Springfield Hospital. The infant did not survive.

Bakker To Head Research Program

Bakker of the University of Amsterdam is to become director general of the European organization for nuclear research upon the resignation of Prof. Felix Bloch of the United States, Sept. 1. Bloch will return to Stanford University. In announcing Bakker's acceptance of the appointment, the organization said today he will serve as deputy director until Sept. 1.

The unexpurgated edition by mail from London went into federal court here and asked:

"By what right would our postmaster censor the ages?"

"By what authority does he translate sex into sin, light into darkness, literature into obscenity, 'Lysistrata' into 'pornography'?"

Today the Post Office Department, after winning one preliminary legal skirmish, decided to call it quits and let the book go through.

It acted, Solicitor Abe McGregor Goff said, on assurances "that the book in question is not for general distribution and is intended for delivery to a collector of rare books."

Said collector, or at least his agent, is Harry A. Levinson, Beverly Hills, Calif., book dealer who raised the rumpus in court.

In asking that Levinson's suit to force delivery of the book be dismissed, Summerfield disclaimed any effort toward "arbitrary censorship."

"Our real concern," Goff said, "is about the great mass of pornographic materials being sent through the mails into the homes of American citizens and this is our main target."

Byrd Hits Highway Program

Serious Blow Dealt President's Building Plans

Train, Cement Mixer Collide

Cement mixer truck wreckage lies beside railroad tracks after colliding with freight train at grade crossing at Bellingham, Mass., yesterday. The driver, Gino Sacchetti, 30, of Medford, escaped injury but was cut in two by engine which was derailed. The gasoline tank on the truck exploded.

SAC Base Set Up In Turkey Near Russians

ISTANBUL, Turkey, March 18

—The U. S. Strategic Air Command has moved unannounced into a new front-line bomber base at Adana, Turkey, reliable informants said today. The SAC base is only 25 minutes flying time from a Soviet fighter air field.

The federal government would put up roughly 31 billion dollars under the administration's program with the states and other local governments expected to supply the remaining 70 billions.

Gore has written the governors of the 48 states asking them whether they believe their states can raise the required money. The committee chairman has questioned whether they can do so.

Would Assume Burden

Under the administration's bill, the federal government would assume nearly the entire burden of 27 billion dollars estimated to be needed to get the interstate network up to modern standards.

Of this sum, 21 billions would be raised through floating a 30-year bond issue. The money would be paid back, along with an estimated interest charge of 11½ billion dollars, through projected revenues from the federal gasoline tax.

Byrd argued that the interest charges would be much too heavy, that the proposal is "incapable of honest federal bookkeeping and accounting" and furthermore, that the interstate system wouldn't really be interstat.

He said 75 per cent of the traffic on those superhighways would be local and that the federal government has no right to take over state and local responsibilities.

If states were permitted to collect the 2-cent gasoline levy, Byrd said, the American people would get 11 billion dollars more in roads than they would under the administration plan.

Negotiations Continued

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 18 (AP)—Railroad and union representatives broke up a three-hour conference tonight with the announcement they would "hopefully continue" negotiations at 9 a.m. tomorrow toward settlement of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad strike.

The Strategic Air Command, which would carry the burden of the so-called massive retaliation in the event of Soviet aggression, is moving hundreds of maintenance men to Adana.

The sources which cannot be disclosed said the vanguard of SAC's Adana base group began moving in two months ago. It is understood 600 maintenance personnel will be stationed at the field in the northeast corner of the Mediterranean.

Byrd Hits Highway Program

Serious Blow Dealt President's Building Plans

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va) delivered today what many legislators considered a jolting blow to the Eisenhower administration's highway-building plan.

He said it would give the federal government "dictatorial control" over roads, and that a proposed 21-billion-dollar bond issue amounted to financial "legerdemain."

The program would be financed in part by bonds issued by a government corporation. The bonds would not be counted as part of the federal debt.

Urge States Collect Tax

Byrd urged, instead, that road-building be expanded by allowing the states to collect the 2-cent gasoline tax now levied by the federal government.

After Byrd had finished, it was evident that committee men, both Democrats and Republicans, were impressed. One Democrat expressed the opinion Byrd had "put the last nail in the coffin" of the administration program.

Meantime the subcommittee chairman, Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) made public preliminary figures on the Bureau of Public Roads showing the federal and state share of the 101-billion-dollar road program which the bureau feels should be undertaken in the next 10 years. A final report is due next week.

The federal government would put up roughly 31 billion dollars under the administration's program with the states and other local governments expected to supply the remaining 70 billions.

Gore has written the governors of the 48 states asking them whether they believe their states can raise the required money. The committee chairman has questioned whether they can do so.

Under the administration's bill, the federal government would assume nearly the entire burden of 27 billion dollars estimated to be needed to get the interstate network up to modern standards.

Congress Told Laws Aided Promotion Of Irving Peress

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—Senators seeking the answer to "Who promoted Peress?" were told today that it was Congress it self.

Irving Peress is a New York dentist who was advanced from captain to major and given an honorable discharge by the Army in spite of his refusal to be a Communist.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee is conducting an inquiry into the circumstances surrounding Peress' military career. Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) has cited the case in support of his charge that the Army has "coddled Communists."

SAC Base Set Up In Turkey Near Russians

ISTANBUL, Turkey, March 18 (AP)—The U. S. Strategic Air Command has moved unannounced into a new front-line bomber base at Adana, Turkey, reliable informants said today. The SAC base is only 25 minutes flying time from a Soviet fighter air field.

The informants said U. S. planes already have staged training flights from North African bases to Adana's 12,000-foot runway of heavy-impact concrete.

The Strategic Air Command, which would carry the so-called massive retaliation in the event of Soviet aggression, is moving hundreds of maintenance men to Adana.

The sources which cannot be disclosed said the vanguard of SAC's Adana base group began moving in two months ago. It is understood 600 maintenance personnel will be stationed at the field in the northeast corner of the Mediterranean.

SAC's new base in Turkey is 1,300 miles closer to the Soviet Union than Wheelus Field at Tripoli, Libya. Until now, the Libyan field has been SAC's forwardmost base in relation to the Soviet borders.

The Adana field, built by U. S. engineers at an estimated cost of 18 million dollars, is understood to be equipped with major underground installations.

Chiang "Hit Roof" Over Yalta Grants

WASHINGTON, March 18 (P)—Chiang Kai-shek "hit the ceiling" back in June 1945 when told of concessions granted to Russia at Yalta, a high American diplomat recalled today.

The concessions which aroused the Chinese Nationalist leader's wrath involved rights in Manchuria and were pledged to Marshal Stalin by President Roosevelt.

The diplomat who told of Chiang's reaction had personal knowledge of 1945 events but declined to permit use of his name because of his present official position.

He said Chiang took the position that the Roosevelt concessions violated either the letter or spirit of assurances which the United States had given Nationalist China previously.

In January 1943, the informant recalled, the United States had renounced for itself, and as example to other countries, all claims of extraterritorial rights in China. In December 1943, at Cairo, the informant added, Roosevelt had committed the United States to return to Chiang China's Manchurian provinces, which had been taken by Japan.

The concessions which Roosevelt negotiated to get Stalin into the war against Japan were evidently worked out with such extreme secrecy that even Prime Minister Churchill knew little or nothing about them although he was one of the three principals in the Yalta meeting.

The Yalta papers released by the State Department Wednesday night disclosed that once when Roosevelt, Stalin and Ambassador Averell Harriman, now governor of New York, were talking about Stalin's price for getting into the Pacific war Churchill interrupted the discussion. Harriman's record of the decision indicated that the subject was immediately dropped.

Harriman reported that he found opportunity later to discuss with Stalin the drafting of some revisions in the list of concessions Stalin had presented.

The record does not make clear exactly how many members of Roosevelt's advisory group knew about the Far East negotiations with Stalin.

She testified she called actor Stevens after her breakup with Jelke and may have made a date with him.

"For the purpose of prostitution?" she was asked.

"No," Miss Ward replied. "Dinner."

Stevens' name appeared in Miss Ward's little red address book, in which there also were listed many of the men to whom she sold herself.

Also in the book were a Peter Crosby, Alan Curtis and Dave Nemeroff. Only Nemeroff was identified as having had relations with her. She described him as connected with a women's wear and fur shop.

Chiang "Hit Roof" Over Yalta Grants

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek "hit the ceiling" in June 1945 when told of concessions granted to Russia at Yalta, a high American diplomat recalled today.

The concessions which aroused the Chinese Nationalist leader's wrath involved rights in Manchuria and were pledged to Marshal Stalin by President Roosevelt.

The diplomat who told of Chiang's reaction had personal knowledge of 1945 events but declined to permit use of his name because of his present official position.

He said Chiang took the position that the Roosevelt concessions violated either the letter or spirit of assurances which the United States had given Nationalist China previously.

In January 1943, the informant recalled, the United States had renounced for itself, and as example to other countries, all claims of extraterritorial rights in China. In December 1943, at Cairo, the informant added, Roosevelt had committed the United States to return to Chiang China's Manchurian provinces, which had been taken by Japan.

The concessions which Roosevelt negotiated to get Stalin into the war against Japan were evidently worked out with such extreme secrecy that even Prime Minister Churchill knew little or nothing about them although he was one of the three principals in the Yalta meeting.

The Yalta papers released by the State Department Wednesday night disclosed that once when Roosevelt, Stalin and Ambassador Averell Harriman, now governor of New York, were talking about Stalin's price for getting into the Pacific war Churchill interrupted the discussion. Harriman's record of the decision indicated that the subject was immediately dropped.

Harriman reported that he found opportunity later to discuss with Stalin the drafting of some revisions in the list of concessions Stalin had presented.

"No," she replied.

And Miss Ward cried "liar" to the suggestion that she haunted smart restaurants in search of men after she and Jelke split up early in 1952.

Miss Ward already had admitted $50 to $100 sex dates with more than a score of wealthy cafe society playboys. But she claimed Jelke pushed her into these, and took $10,000 to $15,000 of her profits.

She testified she called actor Stevens after her breakup with Jelke and may have made a date with him.

"For the purpose of prostitution?" she was asked.

"No," Miss Ward replied. "Dinner."

Stevens' name appeared in Miss Ward's little red address book, in which there also were listed many of the men to whom she sold herself.

Also in the book were a Peter Crosby, Alan Curtis and Dave Nemeroff. Only Nemeroff was identified as having had relations with her. She described him as connected with a women's wear and fur shop.

Astors Are Unable To Agree On Money In Divorce Suit

MIAMI, Fla., March 18 (AP)—John Jacob Astor, 44, wealthy socialite, said today he had been unable to reach a financial agreement with his estranged wife because "she is so unreasonable in her demands for money."

His wife, Dolores Fullman Astor, 27, is suing him for separate maintenance, and he cross-plied for annulment of the marriage or divorce.

The hearing was in the chambers of Circuit Judge Vincent Giblin, with newsmen and spectators barred.

Mrs. Astor had asked half a million dollars and separate maintenance while he wants to settle for $50,000. At a previous appearance, the couple was told to try to reach a financial agreement.

Polio Vaccine Priority Listed

BALTIMORE, March 18 (AP)—A priority list for the Salk polio vaccine was recommended today by the Maryland State Board of Health.

About 150,000 first and second graders in Maryland will be eligible for the vaccine this spring if its use is certified by health officials.

Dr. Edward Davens, head of the State Health Department's Bureau of Preventive Medicine, said after the first and second graders are treated this priority schedule was recommended:

1 — All kindergarten and preschool children over a year of age.

2 — Pregnant women.

3 — All other elementary school children.

4 — Older individuals in houses with elementary school children.

The priority list was recommended by a medical advisory committee and adopted by the Board of Health.

Health authorities said the Salk vaccine will be available free for first and second graders and on the commercial market for use by private physicians if finally certified. A decision is expected April 1, based on a limited test last year.

City Discusses Plans For Repaving Torn Up Street

City officials have been discussing the possibilities of repaving, instead of patching, the portion of Frederick Street torn up for the installation of a larger storm sewer.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said he met with Thomas B. Finan, city attorney; Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer; William H. Buchholz, city street commissioner, and S. T. Brottemarkle, president of the local construction firm that has the contract to widen and pave the current unpaved portion of Frederick Street.

It was agreed, at the meeting Thursday night, Mayor Eves said, that patching the street torn up from Linden Street to the beginning of the dirt part of Frederick Street for the larger storm sewer, would be very expensive.

Frederick Street, from the city limits to Lowell Avenue, will be wide and modern when the $500,000 city-State Roads Commission project is completed.

From Lowell Avenue on in to the center of the city, Frederick Street would be narrow and patched and would constitute a bottleneck for traffic.

Mayor Eves said the city is seeking to set the cost of widening Frederick Street from Lowell Avenue to Decatur Street and giving it a new surface.

The Mayor said a plan could be worked out with the State Roads Commission to include this additional repaving with the present project.

The city would ask the State Roads Commission to arrange for federal aid to help in the financing.

The municipal bond issue supplying the city's share of the Frederick Street Extended project could be used, the Mayor said.

Some of the items provided in this bond issue, such as extension of George Street, widening Franklin Street, and others, could be deferred in order that the additional Frederick Street work could be done while there is a contractor on the project.

The Mayor said that the city could save considerable sum of money by doing all the work now.

No definite conclusion was reached as a result of the meeting.

County Receives $705 Check From Housing Group

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners was presented with a check for $705.02 yesterday by officials of the Cumberland Housing Authority as its share of income from rentals on the two public housing projects—Benjamin Branner Homes and Jane Frazier Village.

The presentation was made by Rev. H. Maunsell Richardson, chairman of the Housing Authority. Also attending was William M. Long, acting director.

The money received by the county was for the one-year period ending March 31, 1954.

A letter was received by the board from J. A. Petry, secretary of the Valley High School Boosters Club, in which the county is asked to provide a walkway from Lonaconing to the new high school.

It was cited 350 students have to walk to the school along the highway, and that the situation is hazardous.

A letter from Osborne D. Ayers requested that the county repair the Mount Pleasant Road in front of his mother's property. He said water drains off the road into fields and they become too wet to be farmed.

A resolution from the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce requests the board to rescind its action of February 18 in asking repeal of the 40 per cent exemption of merchandise inventories from county taxes. The letter was ordered filed.

Commissioners James Orr and

Charles N. Wilkinson said the board had considered the inventory question and their action is final.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of county schools, discussed financing of school construction projects with the board today.

No definite action was taken as Webster said he expects to confer with State Department of Education officials on the program at a meeting next Monday. He will meet with the commissioners later to keep them informed of the situation.

Nebraska had the only one-house legislature in the United States since 1937.

A motorist escaped death or serious injury early yesterday when his car was struck by an eastbound B&O Railroad passenger train No. 10 at the Knox Street crossing.

The crossing watchman, Bruce Ritchey, of Ellerslie, was out on the crossing and holding up the red warning lantern. Lease told police.

Sgt. James W. Brown of City Police said the engineer of the passenger train was W. A. Lief, 509 Louisiana Avenue; the fireman, Jess Weaver, 721 Glenmore Street; and the conductor, L. W. Dreese, 1236 Mifflin Road, Pittsburgh. The train is known as the Washington Express.

City Discusses Plans For Repaving Torn Up Street

City officials have been discussing the possibilities of repaving, instead of patching, the portion of Frederick Street torn up for the installation of a larger storm sewer.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said he met with Thomas B. Finan, city attorney; Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer; William H. Buchholz, city street commissioner, and S. T. Brotemarkle, president of the local construction firm that has the contract to widen and pave the current unpaved portion of Frederick Street.

It was agreed, at the meeting Thursday night, Mayor Eves said, that patching the street torn up from Linden Street to the beginning of the dirt part of Frederick Street for the larger storm sewer, would be very expensive.

Frederick Street, from the city limits to Lowell Avenue, will be wide and modern when the $500,000 city-state Roads Commission project is completed.

From Lowell Avenue on in to the centre of the city, Frederick Street would be narrow and patched and would constitute a bottleneck for traffic.

Mayor Eves said the city is seeking to set the cost of widening Frederick Street from Lowell Avenue to Decatur Street and giving it a new surface.

The Mayor said a plan could be worked out with the State Roads Commission to include this additional repaving with the present project.

The city would ask the State Roads Commission to arrange for federal aid to help in the financing.

The municipal bond issue supplying the city's share of the Frederick Street Extended project could be used, the Mayor said.

Some of the items provided in this bond issue, such as extension of George Street, widening Franklin Street, and others, could be deferred in order that the additional Frederick Street work could be done while there is a contractor on the project.

The Mayor said that the city could save considerable sum of money by doing all the work now.

No definite conclusion was reached as a result of the meeting.

IS IT LATER THAN YOU THINK?

Right now your heart is ticking off the seconds of a lifetime!

Without your willing it to do so, it is pumping life through your veins at an approximate rate of 72 beats a minute. In one year it will have pulsed close to 38 million times—if all goes well.

But suppose your heart suddenly stops tomorrow—or next week—or, at the latest, next month. What then?

Someone, somehow, will help your family pick up the pieces and resume a life of sorts. But only you can guide the destination of your soul.

Let your pastor and your church show you the Way. Look to the future!

It may be later than you think.

The April meeting will be a social and is to be held at the home of Mrs. James McClure in Salisbury, Pa. Officers are to be elected at the May meeting; and the June luncheon meeting will be held at the Ali Ghan Country Club.

Mrs. E. Burnett Van Fossen, interior decorator of Hafer's Furniture Company, Frostburg, was guest speaker. She spoke of blending of colors and interior decoration.

Others present were Mrs. James Grosh, Mrs. Robert Williams, Mrs. John Metzger, Mrs. Harry Cornelius and Mrs. Beulah Montesant.

Young Adults To Buy More Equipment

Future projects were discussed and plans formulated to purchase additional equipment at the meeting of the Young Adults Club of St. Mark's Evangelical and Reformed Church.

In addition to the present shuffleboard, it was decided to get a ping pong set, equipment for a couple other games and to build another shuffleboard.

The group met Thursday evening at the church. Committees for the next three months were appointed and plans made to have a "Grab Bag" at the next meeting April 20. The St. Patrick's Day theme was carried out with shamrocks and other Irish symbols.

Members attending were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Stouffer, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bittner, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. William Underdunk, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clinebell, Mr. and Mrs. George Keady, Jr., Miss Betty Benford, Rev. Carl H. Clapp, Howard Hersh, and Ethel Oster.

The next meeting will be April 20.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Emphasized trends such as the French straight-jacket silhouette, the elegant ease of the released waistline and longer torso hallmark the fashion look for the spring season. But, that doesn't mean you can let the figure relax.

Have you any idea of what you should weigh? Or, didn't it matter during the winter months when you could hide under the cover-up of a voluminous coat? Powers Models weigh in every day, not only to keep their figures under control, but as a health measure.

To help you figure out your own individual ideal weight we have computed a new, lightning calculation that tells you how to figure your own individual ideal weight. Write for HOW MUCH SHOULD YOU WEIGH? enclosing 10c (in coin) and a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Send your request to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper.

Easy-Does-It

Long torso gowns and overblouses do have easier waistlines. There's not the taut, pinched-in "paper-doll" look of the past, when waists were held in by cinches.

The easy-does-it-fit of the new spring silhouettes means that clothes can't do everything for the woman's figures, though.

It's starting time now for the woman to prepare to do something for her clothes. Send for the booklet described above today.

FIGURED FOR YOU

Specially prepared by figure and fashion experts EXCLUSIVELY for readers of this column. FIGURED FOR YOU, gives detailed information and illustrates how to select foundation garments, pantyhose, comeliness, control and healthful comfort for your individual type of figure. Send 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper for FIGURED FOR YOU.

More Youthful

Since Dior's uprisings, designers have been having a "taffy pull" with the figure—the stretched look from the raised decolletage and uplift bustline to the lower hipline.

This new longer look gives American women a lissome slimness which is most youthful.

Women will look longer and leaner because necklines and higher and waistlines are lower.

The new clothes seem to have a tendency to make women who wear them stand straighter. This improved posture immediately adds charm and makes the wearer

Helen Lucile Stanton Is Bride Of Kenneth D. Dice

Miss Helen Lucile Stanton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stanton, Bittner, became the bride of Kenneth Duling Dice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Paul Dice, Kempton, March 17.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at 8:30 in St. John's Lutheran Church, Red Horn, with Rev. Renn, pastor, officiating. Delmont Corbin, Kempton, served as Mr. Dice's best man, and the immediate families attended.

The bride was attired in a powder blue suit with which she wore a small white straw hat trimmed in flowers, white accessories and a corsage of white carnations completed her costume. She is a graduate of Sacred Heart Hospital School of Nursing, Cumberland, and is employed on the nursing staff of Garrett Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

The bridegroom attended school in Thomas, W. Va., and has recently returned home after completing 16 months service in Korea as a sergeant. March 21 he plans to attend Vale Technical Institute in Blairsville, Pa.

Club Votes Donations

Members of the Pleasant Valley Homemakers Club voted two donations at the meeting earlier in the week at the home of Mrs. Lola Heber and Mrs. Carl Heber. A donation of $5 was given to the Red Cross and $3 to the heart fund.

The meeting was opened with the reading of the Homemakers creed, singing of the hymn of the month, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross," after which Mrs. Wilbur Cessna Jr., gave the history of the hymn. Roll call was answered with favorite cooking herbs, which were parsley, sage, mint and basil.

Miss Mary Wise, home demonstration agent, gave a demonstration on color, style and fabric selections. She stressed that one should choose the color and material to suit one's personality, then forget "your clothes and be yourself."

Concluding the meeting the group sang, "My Wild Irish Rose," and recited the Lord's Prayer. Refreshments were served. There were 12 members present. The April 11 meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Deremer.

SRC Legislation

its constitutionality was questionable.

Sen. Phoebus (R-Somerset) threatened the fourth amendment to the turnpike bill—another attempt to return the money to subdivisions. He asked that the bill be held up while his amendment was being drawn.

Despite all the wrangling over the State Roads Commission, the Senate did manage to pass 13 bills, enact 17 others and kill one during the long Friday grind. Most were local in nature.

It also tackled another much kicked around subject of whether to advance annual real estate assessments by one year. It cleared one obstacle toward enactment of this bill at the afternoon session, but another one arose and that measure too was put off until tomorrow.

The House passed the assessments bill Feb. 8. Since then it has been kicking around in the Senate, which has put it off in a form or another nine times. It has been postponed several times since reaching the passage stage.

At this afternoon's session, the senators beat down 15-13 an amendment by Sen. Friend (R-Garrett) which would have restored assessments to a three-year cycle. They are scheduled to go on an annual basis July 1, 1956. The bill under consideration would advance this date to July 1 this year in order to "unfreeze" current assessments that much earlier.

Enacts Fire Bill

The legislative routine Thursday on bills of interest in this part of the state follows:

The Senate enacted House Bill 351, introduced by Del. Lester B. Reed, that would allow use of all volunteer fire company halls for voting and registration purposes.

(Some fire halls have beer and liquor licenses and therefore, are ineligible to be voting sites. This bill would include these companies.)

The Senate also enacted House Bill 471, sponsored by the Allegany county delegation, which would authorize the Allegany county commissioners to investigate and make settlement for alleged damage done the town of Westernport by the Savage River Dam.

Mine Bill Passes

The Senate adopted an unfavorable report on House Bill 391, sponsored by the Allegany, Frederick, Garrett and Washington county delegations, that would require reports of hunting accidents to the Game and Inland Fish Commission.

The House passed:

House Bill 225—Introduced by the Allegany and Garrett delegations—To regulate strip coal mining requiring operators to cover and plant pits.

BURNS INFANT

The infant son of Franklin E. and Jeannine (Higgins) Burns, 117 Arch Street, died several hours after birth yesterday morning in Memorial Hospital.

Surviving, besides the parents, is a brother, Michael E. Burns, at home.

The body is at the Scarpelli Funeral Home. Interment will take place today in Greenmount Cemetery.

Chester C. Twigg, 24, RD 2, city, and Eugene P. Swick, city, were admitted following their accident. Both sustained head and face injuries.

Authorities report that an auto, driven by Twigg, left the highway and struck an embankment. State Police of the Keyser detachment are investigating.

Will Show Film

A sound motion picture, "Reaching From Heaven," will be shown at the 7:30 p. m. service Sunday in Living Stone Church of the Brethren.

This 80-minute film is suitable for the Lenten season, according to Rev. Arthur Scrogum, pastor.

Two Men Injured

Two local men are patients in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, as a result of a highway mishap.

Thursday night on West Virginia State Route 46 between Piedmont and Keyser.

Chester C. Twigg, 24, RD 2, city, and Eugene P. Swick, city, were admitted following their accident. Both sustained head and face injuries.

Authorities report that an auto, driven by Twigg, left the highway and struck an embankment. State Police of the Keyser detachment are investigating.

Oldtown PTA Names Election Committee

Oldtown PTA has appointed a nominating committee to plan for the annual election. Hubert Radcliffe is chairman, assisted by Louise Haugh and Marie Crider.

The PTA is also planning to hold a Fun Night March 25, with the teachers presenting the program.

The association donated $5 to the Red Cross, viewed slides on "School Life," and awarded an attendance banner to John R. Snyder's room.

The Oldtown PTA now has a record number of 175 members.

Finding A Niche For Ex-Presidents

Some people keep worrying about how to make use of the energy and experience of the nation's former presidents. In fact, two bills purporting to offer solutions to the problem—if that is what it is— are before Congress.

The suggestions that Representative Gamble, New York Republican, and Representative Cheif, Kentucky Democrat, have incorporated into proposed legislation seem to differ only as to degree. The one would make former presidents delegates-at-large in the House of Representatives. The other would make them senators-at-large. Both would assure a permanent welcome in the councils of one branch of Congress for one-time chiefs of state.

But the fact that there is no governmental post waiting for retiring presidents doesn't result in them spending the remainder of their lives in idleness. Former President Hoover has been of service to the nation, in a number of capacities, since he left the White House. It's doubtful if he could have accomplished more if he had been a delegate-at-large in the House. It's more doubtful that he would have been happy in such a niche.

Perhaps it's a different story with former President Truman. He never left anybody in doubt about his admiration for the United States Senate and the joy he found in being a senator.

When former presidents are individuals of varying temperaments, can any niche devised by man fit them all comfortably? That can hardly be answered offhand, but this much is certain: No man who occupied the White House will be content with a job that is merely honorary.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Latin America

Sooner or later, the American people will have to recognize that that great world, consisting of 20 republics, which is called Latin America, is very important to them. The Americans ought to have the closest ties, if for no other reason than that they can be united into an economic confederation without employing the sealanes for commerce except in their own waters.

Too often, let us face it, we think of Latin Americans as spiks, poor, ignorant, half-breed peoples. We know little or nothing of their culture because their language is Spanish, except in Brazil where it is Portuguese. We know the rhythm of Cuban music to which we dance, but we do not recognize that some of the best music written on the American continents comes from these countries. We think of the Mexicans as "wet-backs," failing to know about the great art that is produced in that country. I could go on listing the cultural values of our Latin American neighbors, but let this suffice to indicate how much we have to learn about what is, and should not be, to us a new world.

It has been estimated that by the year 2000, Latin America may have a population of 600,000,000. That, of course, is for the entire area which, while varied in population, is culturally more homogeneous than our own land and therefore represents a political potential beyond our present conception. The assumption that this whole vast area is to be judged by small revolutions and civil wars in some particular country is again an error that arises from limiting knowledge to a reading of headlines. In a period when Europe and Asia are marked by drastic and even disastrous political contests, resulting at times in calamitous wars, the Latin American world, in contrast, is remarkably stable. Surely there have been no disturbances in Latin America of the dimensions of the continuing misunderstandings between the French and German peoples or between the Chinese and the Japanese, nor none as senseless.

It was policy during the Roosevelt and Truman administrations to regard the Latin American countries as little brothers to whom we threw crumbs while we were playing Europe with fatid calves. It did not go too well. The so-called good neighbor policy, wisely conceived by Stanley High and carried out by Nelson Rockefeller, was not an astonishing success because it failed to grasp the character of the Latin Americans. It failed to realize the cultural status of the leadership elements. Besides, it was sidetracked by the "Europe First" attitude of those administrations.

President Eisenhower, early in his administration, sent his brother Milton to tour Latin America. Milton Eisenhower grasped the essentials of our problems in that area and did a remarkably good job, paving the way for closer relations. Subsequently Vice President Nixon was assigned to visit Central American and Caribbean countries and did a rather successful job.

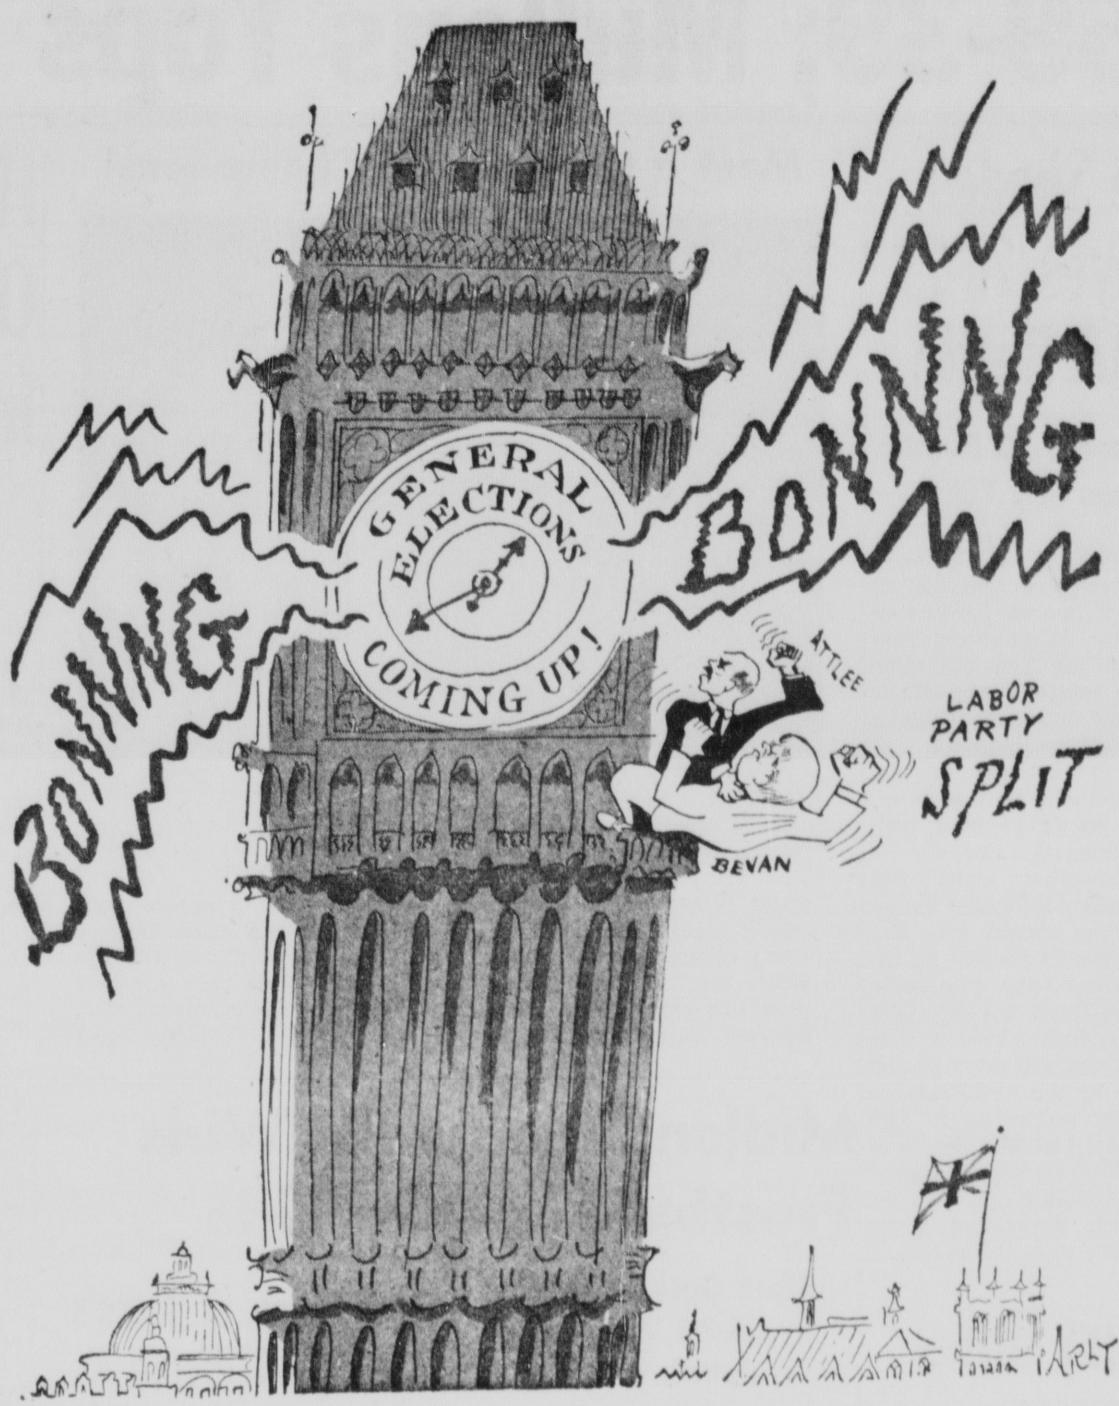

It must be noted that Dr. Milton Eisenhower is the President's closest adviser and that the vice president, Richard Nixon, is particularly able at the sort of public relations involved in tours to foreign countries. He has a penchant for making himself liked under those circumstances. It is to be expected therefore that Latin America is in the President's mind and that much will be done in this administration to overcome the Latin American sense of neglect.

Senator George Malone, an engineer with a vast knowledge of metals, minerals and other raw materials, holds to the thesis that the two American continents can be made self-sufficient in the essentials of our physical civilization. A committee of the Senate over which he presides has published a number of informed and detailed reports on this subject which seem convincing. If his conclusions are correct, it would appear to be sound, at this time, when so much of the energy and wealth of the United States is being devoted to the preparation for war and for shortages, that the subject of American continental self-sufficiency be considered with the keenest seriousness.

For instance, the United States is already importing iron ore, copper and bauxite from Latin American countries in quantities that are important to our economy. These imports are likely to increase. They ought to be assured for the future so that our civilization, which is based physically on steel, is never in peril.

For Whom The Bell Tolls

FDR, Churchill And Stalin Disregarded Moral Principle

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The famous "Yalta papers" now made public after 10 years of secrecy merely confirm what was suspected at the time—namely, that moral principle was flagrantly disregarded by Messrs. Roosevelt, Stalin and Churchill and that the Atlantic Charter, with its professions of high purpose, was torn to shreds.

The world has known the main facts—that the people of Poland were sold down the river and that Stalin was appeased again and again. The blunders made at Yalta have altered the whole course of modern history.

Already the apologists are crying out that "it's all water over the dam anyhow," but they forget that, unless the facts of historic conferences are clearly revealed, no lessons can be learned that will prevent a recurrence of the same mistakes in the future.

Talking Same Language

For today many of the ardent advocates of "peaceful coexistence" are talking the same language of surrender and appeasement as was heard at Yalta. It matters little to such advocates that more than 30,000 American boys gave their lives and 110,000 were wounded in Korea in a noble attempt to maintain the principle of collective security. Again, for "practical" reasons, it is being urged that an aggressor nation must be accepted in the United Nations.

It is precisely this sin of expectancy which is disclosed repeatedly in the "Yalta papers," and that's why it is important for the whole world to read now what happened when well-meaning men like the late President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill mistakenly put their trust in Stalin and in the professed intentions of the Communist regime.

It may be true that there was Communist infiltration in the American delegation at Yalta, that Alger Hiss was hypnotized by the automat.

But we know no other place in the swirl and tumult where he is more important than the customer with the platter.

He figures the way we do on the incomplete score. If Za Za has not met the indispensable man then neither has Ike. Or me or you.

Then the citation suddenly switched to Harry Truman and withered on the vine. Now, Ike's clientele is warming up the subject for 1956. His coat-tails are again on the passenger run.

Ike is not in favor of booking the wire-tapping.

They're drumming Ike up as the indispensable man as coat-tail transportation in 1956. That's only a political hoot-and-holler away as the croak flies.

Something like the arsonist who lit one job off another.

Finding A Niche For Ex-Presidents

Some people keep worrying about how to make use of the energy and experience of the nation's former presidents. In fact, two bills purporting to offer solutions to the problem—if that is what it is—are before Congress.

The suggestions that Representative Gamble, New York Republican, and Representative Chelf, Kentucky Democrat, have incorporated into proposed legislation seem to differ only as to degree. The one would make former presidents delegates-at-large in the House of Representatives. The other would make them senators-at-large. Both would assure a permanent welcome in the councils of one branch of Congress for one-time chiefs of state.

But the fact that there is no governmental post waiting for retiring presidents doesn't result in them spending the remainder of their lives in idleness. Former President Hoover has been of service to the nation, in a number of capacities, since he left the White House. It's doubtful if he could have accomplished more if he had been a delegate-at-large in the House. It's more doubtful that he would have been happy in such a niche.

Perhaps it's a different story with former President Truman. He never left anybody in doubt about his admiration for the United States Senate and the joy he found in being a senator.

When former presidents are individuals of varying temperaments, can any niche devised by man fit them all comfortably? That can hardly be answered offhand, but this much is certain: No man who occupied the White House will be content with a job that is merely honorary.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Latin America

Sooner or later, the American people will have to recognize that that great world, consisting of 20 republics, which is called Latin America, is very important to them. The Americans ought to have the closest ties, if for no other reason than that they can be united into an economic confederation without employing the sealanes for commerce except in their own waters.

Too often, let us face it, we think of Latin Americans as spiks, poor, ignorant, half-breed peoples. We know little or nothing of their culture because their language is Spanish, except in Brazil where it is Portuguese. We know the rhythm of Cuban music to which we dance, but we do not recognize that some of the best music written on the American continents comes from these countries. We think of the Mexicans as "wet-backs," failing to know about the great art that is produced in that country. I could go on listing the cultural values of our Latin American neighbors, but let this suffice to indicate how much we have to learn about what is, and should not be, to us a new world.

Talking Same Language

For today many of the ardent advocates of "peaceful coexistence" are talking the same language of surrender and appeasement as was heard at Yalta. It matters little to such advocates that more than 30,000 American boys gave their lives and 110,000 were wounded in Korea in a noble attempt to maintain the principle of collective security. Again, for "practical" reasons, it is being urged that an aggressor nation must be accepted in the United Nations.

It is precisely this sin of expectancy which is disclosed repeatedly in the "Yalta papers," and that's why it is important for the whole world to read now what happened when well-meaning men like the late President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill mistakenly put their trust in Stalin and in the professed intentions of the Communist regime.

It may be true that there was Communist infiltration in the American delegation at Yalta, that Alger Hiss was hypnotized by Communist philosophy and that he helped create the atmosphere of trustfulness which permeated the

It has been estimated that by the year 2000, Latin America may have a population of 600,000,000. That, of course, is for the entire area which, while varied in population, is culturally more homogeneous than our own land and therefore represents a political potential beyond our present conception. The assumption that this whole vast area is to be judged by small revolutions and civil wars in some particular country is again an error that arises from limiting knowledge to a reading of headlines. In a period when Europe and Asia are marked by drastic and even disastrous political contests, resulting at times in calamitous wars, the Latin American world, in contrast, is remarkably stable. Surely there have been no disturbances in Latin America of the dimensions of the continuing misunderstandings between the French and German peoples or between the Chinese and the Japanese, nor none as senseless.

It was policy during the Roosevelt and Truman administrations to regard the Latin American countries as little brothers to whom we threw crumbs while we were plying Europe with fatigued calves. It did not go too well. The so-called good neighbor policy, wisely conceived by Stanley High and carried out by Nelson Rockefeller, was not an astonishing success because it failed to grasp the character of the Latin Americans. It failed to realize the cultural status of the leadership elements. Besides, it was sidetracked by the "Europe First" attitude of those administrations.

President Eisenhower, early in his administration, sent his brother Milton to tour Latin America. Milton Eisenhower grasped the essentials of our problems in that area and did a remarkably good job, paving the way for closer relations. Subsequently Vice President Nixon was assigned to visit Central American and Caribbean countries and did a rather successful job.

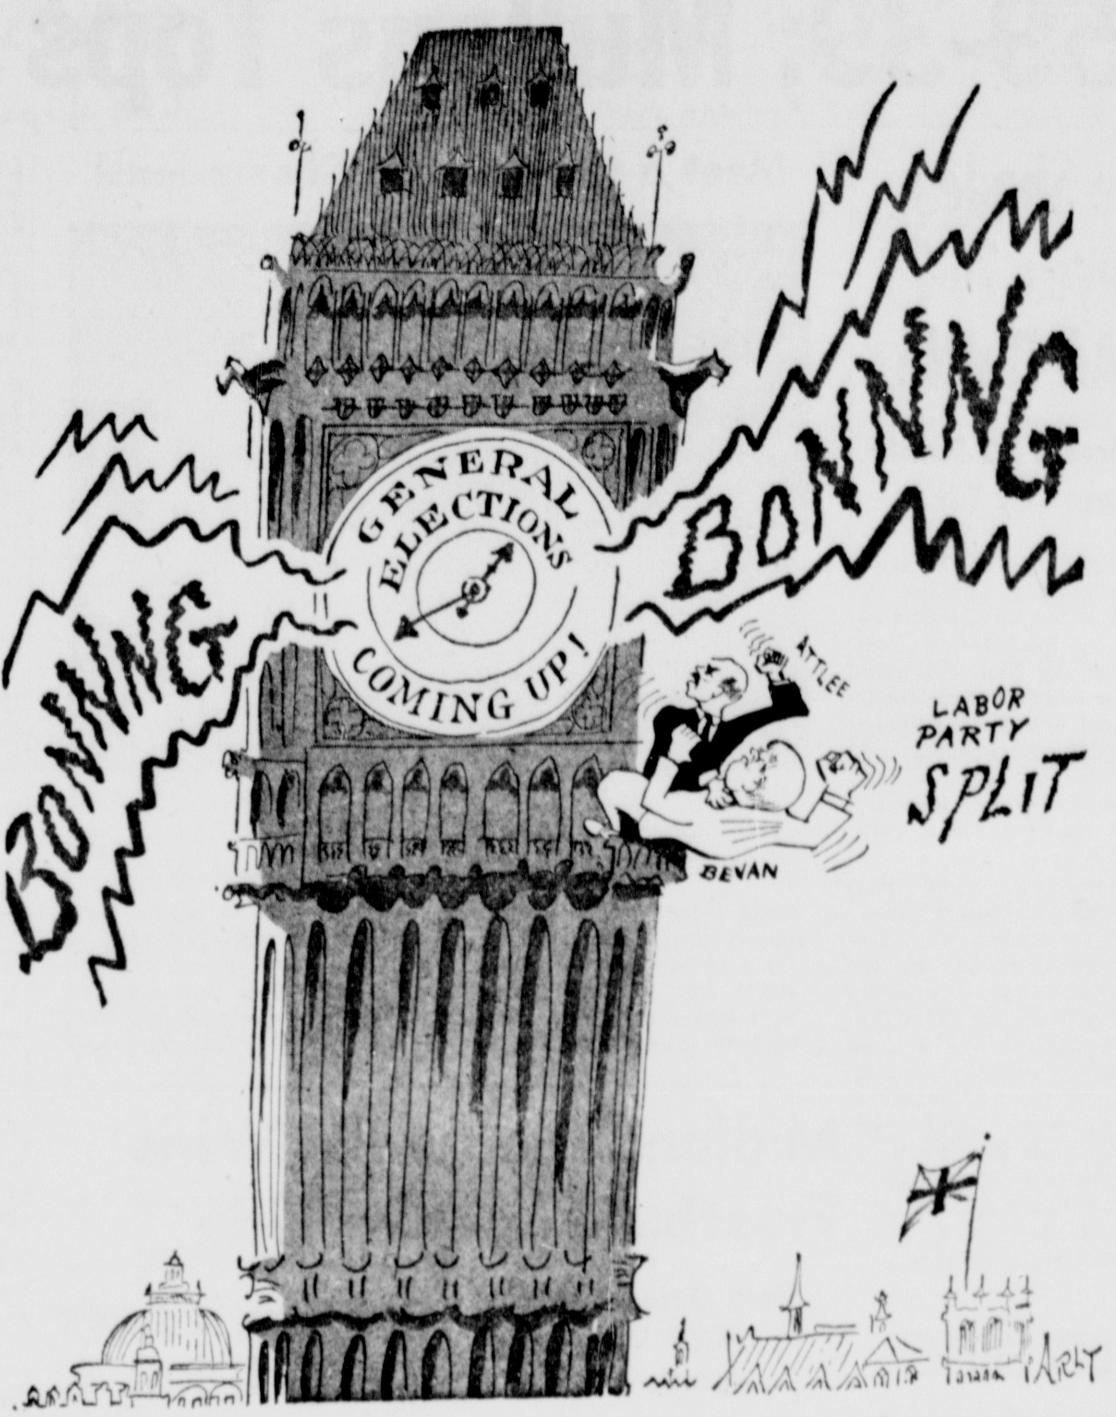

It must be noted that Dr. Milton Eisenhower is the President's closest adviser and that the vice president, Richard Nixon, is particularly able at the sort of public relations involved in tours to foreign countries. He has a penchant for making himself liked under those circumstances. It is to be expected therefore that Latin America is in the President's mind and that much will be done in this administration to overcome the Latin American sense of neglect.

Senator George Malone, an engineer with a vast knowledge of metals, minerals and other raw materials, holds to the thesis that the two American continents can be made self-sufficient in the essentials of our physical civilization. A committee of the Senate over which he presides has published a number of informed and detailed reports on this subject which seem convincing. If his conclusions are correct, it would appear to be sound, at this time, when so much of the energy and wealth of the United States is being devoted to the preparation for war and for shortages, that the subject of American continental self-sufficiency be considered with the keenest seriousness.

For instance, the United States is already importing iron ore, copper and bauxite from Latin American countries in quantities that are important to our economy. These imports are likely to increase. They ought to be assured for the future so that our civilization, which is based physically on steel, is never in peril.

For Whom The Bell Tolls

FDR, Churchill And Stalin Disregarded Moral Principle

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The famous "Yalta papers" now made public after 10 years of secrecy merely confirm what was suspected at the time—namely, that moral principle was flagrantly disregarded by Messrs. Roosevelt, Stalin and the readiness of Harry Dexter White, then assistant secretary of the treasury, to recommend a $10 billion loan to Soviet Russia do not explain the timidity and the softness which both Roosevelt and Churchill manifested in their dealings with Stalin. There is evidence that both the American and British leaders overestimated the military and political importance of Soviet Russia and made concessions that have brought on the "cold war" of postwar years.

Already the apologists are crying out that "it's all water over the dam anyhow," but they forget that, unless the facts of historic conferences are clearly revealed, no lessons can be learned that will prevent a recurrence of the same mistakes in the future.

Yalta conference when he was there as an adviser for the State Department. But the philosophical prejudices of Alger Hiss or the readiness of Harry Dexter White, then assistant secretary of the treasury, to recommend a $10 billion loan to Soviet Russia do not explain the timidity and the softness which both Roosevelt and Churchill manifested in their dealings with Stalin. There is evidence that both the American and British leaders overestimated the military and political importance of Soviet Russia and made concessions that have brought on the "cold war" of postwar years.

This correspondent wrote just after the Yalta conference many criticisms of what was done there, and unfortunately stood almost alone as a critic in those days. One newspaper editor in a small city in New York State wrote a letter at the time taking this writer to task for his views and pointing out that many of the larger newspapers had not, in their editorials, opposed what was done at Yalta but had argued in favor of it as a practical step. This was unhappy example of the conformity of thought which some observers then believed was essential, and it certainly shows now the importance of criticism of government policy, even in wartime.

Naturally the "Yalta papers" have since gotten into partisan politics. The Republican national platform of 1952 denounced the decisions made at Yalta, while the Democrats have always felt they must defend what happened there. The truth is there has been an example of the conformity of thought which some observers then believed was essential, and it certainly shows now the importance of criticism of government policy, even in wartime.

Few people will read the full text of the "Yalta papers," which runs about 500,000 words, but the leaders of thought in America as well as members of Congress and others throughout the government charged with responsibility for future steps in world policy will want to examine carefully the tragic record of appeasement written in those documents lest the same mistakes be made now.

Something like the arsonist who lit one job off another.

So they're drumming Ike up as the indispensable man as coat-tail transportation in 1956. That's only political hoot-and-holler away as the croak flies.

Ike is not in favor of booking the indispensable man on such meager wire-tapping.

He figures the way we do on the incomplete score. If Za Za has not met the indispensable man then neither has Ike. Or me or you.

You might stretch a theory across a wash-tub and say he could be in back of the pie slot in the automat.

But we know no other place in the swirl and tumult where he is more important than the customer with the platter.

Ike doesn't want the job. It's the ploys with the other jobs who need it.

Coated Tongue Not Too Good As Diagnosis Indicator

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

An English physician recently took exception to the old concept that the tongue is a trustworthy mirror of health. He studied 750 children with coated tongue and was unable to detect anything of diagnostic importance in this condition. The tykes were suffering from a great variety of diseases yet the tongue looked the same, no matter what was wrong.

The old-time physician over-emphasized the importance of this organ because he lacked the diagnostic tools of the modern M. D. He believed the tongue never lied and, by looking at it carefully, was able to uncover many secrets. The modern physician still takes a peek but is more conservative about its disclosures.

The tongue is not immune to infections; it is involved in many diseases affecting the mouth. The structure may be furred during

Needless to say, this production became a smash hit. Every time he got a hefty check from it, he had to send personal checks to the two investors on whom he'd unloaded his interest. The very first success in his "angelic" career virtually bankrupted him!

Allegany County Fails To Make Finals First Time Since 1928

Eastern Shore Cagers
Shake Jinx; Oxon Hill Is Other B Finalist

COLLEGE PARK, March 18.—Allegany County failed to advance a team to the finals of the Maryland state basketball tournament for the first time since 1928 when Valley High School, Lonaconing, bowed out of the Class B competition today as Cambridge High School walloped the Black Knights to the tune of 59-39 at Ritchie Coliseum in the fourth contest on the six-game program.

It also marked only the second time in 26 meetings that an Eastern Shore team had beaten a team from Allegany County in state play. Ocean City was first to turn the trick in 1952 when it eliminated Barton High School in the Class C tourney. Until today's contest Cambridge had lost nine consecutive games to Allegany County Class A and B teams since 1930.

In 1928 Allegany High failed to reach the finals when defeated by Hagerstown. Catonsville was the eventual winner. In the 19 succeeding tournaments, 1929 to 1939, and 1947 through 1954, Allegany County had emerged from the tournaments with one or more champion ship teams.

Lead 17-2 At Quarter

Cambridge jumped off to a 9-0 lead and held the long end of a 17-2 score when the first period ended. The Shoremen were out in front by 13 points at intermission, 28-15, and they enjoyed a 23-point advantage at 51-28 going into the final stanza. Valley managed to outscore Cambridge in the last period, 11 to 8.

The winners raked up 20 field goals to 14 for the Allegany County quint and connected 19 times in 27 attempts at the free throw line while the Knights were sinking 11 of 21 shots.

Four Cambridge players, Dave Bromwell, Bill Dooge, Grayson Hurley and Warren Neal accounted for all but seven of their team's points. Bromwell dumped in 15, Dooge 14, Hurley 13 and Neal 10. Ellsworth Russell, Valley's substitute center, led the losers by scoring 13 points, seven of which were registered at the charity line.

Oxon Hall Wins 22nd

In the other Class B semi-final, Oxon Hill High School of Prince Georges County, scored its 22nd straight victory, defeating Aberdeen, 77-74, to advance to the finals with Cambridge Saturday at 7 p.m.

Oxon Hill converted 27 of its 32 free throws in beating Aberdeen. Buddy Campbell and Sonny Piper paced the winners with 20 points each, but Aberdeen's Dave Gross took scoring honors with 22 points.

Lackey High School of Indian Head and Southern High School of Lothian scored wins in the Class C semi-finals and will clash here Saturday night at 5:30 in the championship game.

The Indian Head team withstood a late rally by Mardela of the Eastern Shore to win 50-46. Southern scored three free throws in the final 50 seconds to down Centre-ville, 50-48.

Lackey saw a 41-31 third quarter lead dissolve into a 44-44 tie with 45 seconds left to play. Wayne Davenport and Ken Rees brought Mardela into the tie, only to have Chuck Simmons and Tom Bailey pull Lackey out front, 50-44.

Frank Hopkins scored two foul shots with one second left for Mardela's final points. Don Green of Mardela and Simmons of Lackey tied for scoring honors with 17 points each.

County Is Dethroned

Cambridge's victory over Valley High dethroned Allegany County as Class B champions. Central of Lonaconing had won the title in 1952 and Bruce High, Westerport, went all the way in 1953 and 1954. These two schools had won 15 consecutive tourney games prior to Valley's setback today. The Valley-Cambridge box score:

Jones Hangs Up World's Record Then Collapses

Wins 400 Meters In Pan-American

By TED SMITS

MEXICO CITY, March 18 (AP)—Dennis Jones, a New York Army private who had become a perennial track runnerup, raced to the Pan-American 400 meters championship in 45.4 seconds today, clipping four-tenths of a second off the world record, and then collapsed on the track.

The 22-year-old former Manhattan College athlete apparently was exhausted by his driving finish. Jimmie Lee of Southern California, who finished just a lungé behind at 45.6, also bettered the record of 45.8 held by George Rhoden of Jamaica.

This dramatic race, which saw Jesse Mashburn of Oklahoma A., and M. sweep third at 46.9 for a U.S. sweep, highlighted another day of victory for Uncle Sam's forces, already virtually assured of the unofficial team championship won in 1951 by Argentina.

Karen Anderson Scores

Karen Anderson of Lansdowne, Pa., won the women's javelin throw with a tremendous heave of 161 feet, 3 inches, which is close to some of the best efforts of the widely heralded amazons behind the Iron Curtain.

Rafer Johnson, a powerful, 19-year-old UCLA freshman, brought memories of the great Bob Mathias as he took a long lead at the halfway point of the rigorous decathlon, Blair of Silver Spring, in tomorrow's finals.

An "in and out" crowd, estimated at 9,000 best in recent years, saw the six semi-final games.

Charles Hewitt with 15 points, led Hagerstown to its victory and Roy Stotter and Dave Wachter added 12 and 10, respectively for the Washington County champions.

But Wicomico came to life and with 1:35 to play cut Hagerstown's lead to 43-40, only to have Hewitt and Stotter pull Hagerstown out of the final period.

BOWIE. March 18 (AP)—Giles D. Mills' Nick Jimmie, a consistent winner in Maryland last fall, returned to form in the Balko Purse, featured seventh race here today, when he scampered to a front-running victory at $5.60 for $2.

Making a sloppy track look almost fast, Nick Jimmie reeled off the six furlongs in 1:11 4/5 to win by a length and a half from favored New Dream, who carried the H. H. Polk silks into second money.

OAKLAND—Twenty-eight young women of Oakland and vicinity, interested in organizing a Junior Civic Club, met recently at the William-James hotel and unanimously agreed to form such a group.

Three guests, Mrs. Bruce Douglas, Jr., Mrs. Miles Thompson, Jr., and Mrs. John McVeigh, of the Cumberland Junior Civic Club, answered questions as to how to proceed.

Mrs. Irvin Feld was named chairman of a committee on Constitution and By-laws with Mrs. James Helbig, Mrs. Thomas Stevenson, Mrs. Guy William Hinebaugh, Mrs. Jay Bell and Mrs. James DeMoss as other members of that committee.

Frostburg Enters Mishap Prevention National Contest

FROSTBURG—A report of Frostburg's pedestrian accidents and its accident prevention program has been forwarded to the American Automobile Association in Washington for judging in the 16th annual pedestrian protection contest, according to Police Chief Lloyd S. Truly.

The contest report form details accident records, legislation and enforcement, engineering, organization, school safety and public information activities conducted in Frostburg during 1954.

The AAA will judge the Frostburg report with other cities of the same population from all over the United States. In last year's contest, all 48 states and 1,892 cities entered.

Frostburg has had a perfect fatality rate since December 1948, and Chief Truly said that if all pedestrians would follow the safe walking rules, the record could remain unblemished.

Truly also cautioned motorists to be extra careful with the spring and summer months coming on and to use extra caution in areas where children are playing or riding bicycles.

Bill Regulating Ingress, Egress Passes House

Plan For Premium SRC Pay Is Killed

The Allegany County Delegation yesterday reported the orderly progress through the House of several bills of interest here, and the sudden death of another bill sponsored by two members of the delegation.

Passed yesterday and sent to the Senate was House Bill 459, sponsored by Delegates Reed, Kelley and See, which would limit the State Road Commission's regulation of entrances to commercial establishments to those built after June 1.

During passage, the channelization bill was amended to eliminate the right of appeal to the courts. Existing establishments were exempted from the provisions of the bill, according to Del. Charles M. See, chairman.

Also in the hands of the Senate is House Bill 590, which directs the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to provide funds for $300, $100 and $100 wage increases during the next three years for county teachers.

Delegate See said House Bill 459, of which he is a co-sponsor, is before the Ways and Means Committee of the House. A state-wide bill, it would provide for boosting the Green Commission rates for teachers by $300 — providing a basis scale of $3,200 to $5,000 a year. It also provides increases for supervisors, principals and visiting teachers.

Bill Is Amended

If both bills are passed, it was pointed out, teachers in Allegany County would start at $3,500 a year and have a top minimum of $5,300.

Amended by the House Ways and Means Committee yesterday was a delegation sponsored bill requiring the Department of Insurance to hire an investigator.

Del. See said the committee suggested it would be better to direct the department to investigate complaints for possible criminal action, and leave it up to the unit to decide the number of workers needed.

SRC Protests

Killed in the Ways and Means Committee yesterday was House Bill 470, sponsored by Delegates Lester B. Reed and See, which directed the State Roads Commission to pay time and one-half to workers who are called out for emergency work.

Delegate See said the SRC turned up in full force to protest the plan on the basis of added costs.

Del. See said the Delegation has decided it will not introduce a proposal for setting up a lighting system in Cresaptown.

He said it was pointed out that the bill was not received until Tuesday, and there will be no opportunity to hold a hearing due to the busy schedule the legislators face between now and April 4.

It was recalled that a similar plan was once voted down in a referendum and that there would undoubtedly be a request for a hearing.

He said the Delegation believes all requests for local legislation have been made.

Civil Defense Building Bids Due April 8

Bids for the erection of a two-story concrete block Civil Defense Training Set, which will be located in Constitution Park, will be received until 10 a.m., April 8 at the office of the clerk of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, according to William G. Barger, County CD director.

Plans and specifications, Barger pointed out, are available at the office of the clerk at the Court House here. Bids may be submitted for complete construction or major sub-contract as defined in the specifications.

The building, Barger added, will be located in the park overlooking the reservoir and will be adjacent to the ball park.

The rescue and training center will have facilities for the CD rescue truck on the first floor. Part of the first floor will be constructed in such a manner that fires may be lighted and the latest methods of extinguishing them practiced.

On the second floor, Barger said, there will be facilities for the practice of lowering stretchers to the first floor. CD training classrooms will also be located on this floor.

Further information on the bids may be obtained from Barger who reserves the right to recommend to the Commissioners the rejection of any or all bids or the acceptance of them.

Move Started To Remove Dam In Town Creek

Sportsmen, Farmers Raise Old Question

A petition is being prepared by Town Creek Valley farmers and area sportsmen, for the removal of a dam on Town Creek, or at least for the installation of a fish ladder on the dam.

According to J. Millard Hughes of the Town Creek Valley Farmers Association, this question has come up repeatedly, and has been discussed in official circles many times, yet no one seems to take the initiative to do something about it.

Supplied Railway

Hughes explains that the Town Creek dam was constructed many years ago, to impound water to supply Western Maryland Railway engines at this point. In 1936, the flood washed out a fish ladder, which permitted game fish to move upstream in the Spring to spawn. Since then, fish have been blocked out of Town Creek by the dam, and farmers and sportsmen have repeatedly asked for relief.

Hughes points out that the dam is no longer needed or used by the railway company, since steam engines have given way to Diesels. Therefore, he contends, many residents of the area believe the obstruction should be moved. Other sportsmen, he acknowledged, would settle for the installation of an adequate fish ladder installation.

The dam, Hughes said is located near the Cardinal Club, not far from the mouth of Town Creek. He points out that according to Maryland Fish and Game laws, Article 66-C, Chapter 183, Acts of 1953 provides that any such dam or obstruction must be equipped with a suitable fish ladder.

Meeting Is Planned

A number of other developments toward the year-long celebration were announced yesterday as Steering Committee officers met in City Hall.

Lewyn C. Davis, secretary, was asked to contact the John B. Rogers Company, which will direct the celebration for a meeting of the full Steering Committee on March 30.

The committee yesterday adopted official stationery, designed by Joseph T. Delaney, staff artist for the Times and Alleganian Companies.

Firemen To Aid

Plans for the cooperation of volunteer firemen in the celebration were discussed yesterday with David Kirk, president, and Cromwell Zembower, secretary of the Allegany-Garrett Volunteer Firemen's Association.

They indicated plans are being made to use the Bicentennial theme for the Maryland State Firemen's Convention here June 20 to 24.

Kirk and Zembower promised to discuss with the Allegany-Garrett Association participation in a parade which will be held here during the Bicentennial pageant the week of August 14 to 20.

Inspected Dam

Last year, Hughes recalls, Edwin Barry, chief of Inland Fish Management and his staff inspected the problem and spent the day at a rally at Pumpkin Center for camp owners and fishermen. This was one of several attempts, Hughes claims, to call the problem to the attention of proper authorities. However, nothing has come of the discussion at that or any other time.

Numerous area fishermen contend that Town Creek would be a much better fishing stream, if the game fish could work their way upstream, past this obstruction.

The announcement brought to a close an era in the State's public health annals.

The 75-year-old physician was only the second full time head of the State Department of Health since it was established by law in 1874. He succeeded Dr. John S. Fulton, who became full time head of the department in 1896 and served until 1928.

For the past 27 years, the energetic doctor has been chairman of the State Board of Health and director of the State Department of Health.

Dr. Riley read a brief letter of resignation to the board at its meeting today.

On Staff Since 1914

It said in part:

"In view of the very large increase in the duties and responsibilities of the office of the director of health . . . I have reached the conclusion that a younger man is needed to conduct the affairs of the State Department of Health."

"I, therefore, tender my resignation as director of health and chairman of the State Board of Health, to become effective Jan. 1, 1956."

As health director, Dr. Riley is responsible for supervision of seven State hospitals, administration of the Maryland medical care program and numerous other phases of health activity.

He became deputy State health officer of Maryland in 1914 and served in that capacity until 1920 when he became chief of the Bureau of Communicable Diseases of the department. Dr. Riley held that post until 1925 when he became assistant health director, remaining in that capacity until he assumed complete responsibility in 1928.

Set Up County Plan

Dr. Riley's first Maryland assignment was to help conduct a study of rural sanitation and its effect on the reduction of typhoid fever in Dorchester County.

Fletcher said Thursday day of the quartet had admitted selling the stolen cable to Glessner in February, total certifications for surplus commodities in the county amounted to 3,307 families and 11,204 individuals. In March the figures climbed to a total of 3,668 families or 12,382 individuals.

April Registration

Already certified for the April distribution are 3,909 families of 13,411 persons.

Chapman said the April registration, completed earlier this month, sets an all-time, all-high record for the county.

The Red Cross registered a total of 2,053 families of 7,710 individuals.

The Allegany County Welfare Board certified 888 families of 2,027 persons.

The registration for the May distribution, expected to be higher still, Chapman said, will be conducted on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 4, 5 and 6. He urged that all agencies and all branches of the agencies conform their registration with these dates to avoid confusion.

Chapman said no cheese was shipped here in time for the current release of food stuffs, but he hopes that next month, cheese, as well as milk, butter and shortening will be available.

Plans for opening the official headquarters for the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial Celebration were announced yesterday by Col. F. Egerton Powell, chairman of the celebration's steering committee.

Headquarters for the event, he said, will be established Tuesday at 75 North Centre Street, directly opposite City Hall.

Volunteer workers to staff the office will be secured by Mrs. Marguerite Findlay and Miss Ruth Clauson, members of the Steering Committee, from women's organizations of the city.

A number of other developments toward the year-long celebration were announced yesterday as Steering Committee officers met in City Hall.

Firemen To Aid

Plans for the cooperation of volunteer firemen in the celebration were discussed yesterday with David Kirk, president, and Cromwell Zembower, secretary of the Allegany-Garrett Volunteer Firemen's Association.

No date was announced for the awarding of the contract.

Within a few weeks, the Maryland State Roads Commission will ask bids on the Maryland approach, which is to be built as a federal-aid project, with costs shared by the City of Cumberland from flood control funds, and the government.

The deck and sidewalks for the bridge are to be laid this spring by the Wright Contracting Company.

The committee yesterday adopted a field check of plans for the construction of the approach, which is a West Virginia responsibility.

CIO Council Briefed On Legislation

Amendments Pour In On Expressway Bill

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS, March 18 (AP)—The Maryland Senate remained snarled up in State Roads Commission legislation late tonight on a weekend work schedule designed to clear a logjam of bills.

B. Robert Fahey, president of the Maryland-District of Columbia Council of Machinists, stressed the effectiveness and necessity of individual expression on legislation by writing to one's legislators.

Murphy George, national CIO representative for Pennsylvania and Maryland, offered the aid of his office to assist CIO councils under his jurisdiction.

Action taken by area CIO locals to secure better labor legislation was outlined by Ralph C. Beard, political education chairman for Local 26, Rubber Workers Union.

Also speaking at the meeting held in the Rubber Workers Hall were Melvin Harris, president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union; M. A. Orlove, labor consultant of the Department of Employment Security; R. S. Martin, president of the State Industrial Council, and Joseph Burke, treasurer of the PEC of Local 26.

The first phase includes the visitation of Methodist Youth upon other young people in the area. This will continue until Sunday, April 17, if necessary. The second phase will be a preaching mission at Centre Street Methodist Church from Monday, April 18, through Friday, April 22.

Services will begin each evening at 7:30 and each will feature the leadership of Methodist Youth from different churches.

Snow Marks Last Winter Weekend

Cumberland's heaviest snowfall of the season, two-and-a-half-inches, greeted the last Friday of Winter yesterday.

Robert R. Golden, official weather observer at Constitution Park, said that only 10 or 11 inches of snow had fallen all season before yesterday's "robin" snow which soon melted away.

Official high temperature yesterday was 43 and the low 30. By 8 p. m. the reading was 36 degrees. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 57 per cent. The melted precipitation from the two-and-a-half-inches of snow was .19 inches.

Spring with its promise of milder weather arrives officially at 4:36 a. m. Monday.

The last real evidence of the whereabouts of the escapee came from George Ravencroft who resides in Maryland across from Barnum, W. Va. He told authorities that he fed Wilson on Wednesday night about dusk and also furnished him with a pair of trousers. In the meantime the authorities are combing the area in search for the prisoner.

Another amendment pending is a former bill by Sen. Goldstein (D-Calvert) held in committee earlier this session which would increase the membership of the roads commission from three to five members.

There was talk after the session this would be withdrawn because
